Juvé & Camps cavas and wines receive organic certification

The cavas and wines from the Sant Sadurní d'Anoia winery are now certified organic from the 2015 vintage onwards, the culmination of a process to convert the vineyards that took several years.

Sant Sadurní d'Anoia, October 2018 – Juvé & Camps cavas and wines from the 2015 vintage onwards are 100% organic. That same year saw the first sustainable harvest after a three-year process of converting the vineyards to organic viticulture. Committed to improving the quality of its cavas and wines, the winery has embraced a sustainable production model that respects the environment at every stage of the vinification and winemaking process. From picking to pressing, Juvé & Camps treats each and every variety with utmost care to guarantee highly expressive cavas and wines, better-quality products for the consumer, and a deep commitment to and respect for nature.

Reserva de la Familia, the winery's flagship cava, unveils its first organic vintage, followed by the house's other renowned wines. The cavas and wines of Juvé & Camps epitomise the expression of a place, a vineyard and a family, seeking to unite these elements in perfect synchronicity to craft excellent products. Located in an exceptional winegrowing enclave, the winery has always focused on the love for the vineyard, tireless effort and continuous research that are needed to obtain the finest and most balanced fruit.

Juvé & Camps represents the present, past and future. These co-exist and complement each other, evolving to take the wines in a new, better and more conscientious direction. Caring about and safeguarding every stage of the winemaking process is the winery's guiding principle. Hand-harvesting and artisanal winemaking are integral aspects of the estate's organic vineyards.
