

The origin

A forest and a stream surround La Siberia, our coldest terroir and our own personal commitment to the most delicate and delicious Pinot Noir grown in Penedès.

La Siberia endures very cold winters and cool summers, thereby maintaining the moderate temperature that is perfect for growing Pinot Noir. These unique conditions influence the personality of our most refined and extravagant sparkling wine. In 1984, we planted the variety on limestone and clay soil, convinced that this would become the ideal starting ground for our sparkling wines. The delicate complexity of La Siberia, a kaleidoscope of nuances gained over time, and the perfect harmony between the soil and the Mediterranean climate, are truly captivating. Pinot Noir has adapted to these perfectly. The terroir yields concentrated grapes that are full of expressiveness and magnificent finesse. La Siberia is a rare, bold and exceptional sparkling wine.

The vintage

2012 was a dry vintage apart from the rainy April, which was key to good vine development. After an extremely warm and dry July, the fine August rain dampened the temperatures, resulting in a slow and balanced ripening process.

Juvé & Camps La Siberia 2012

“Juvé & Camps La Siberia is an unconventional, unique and unforgettable sparkling wine. It is that rare thing, a wine that captures the attention from the moment it is poured into the glass. Drinking it takes your sensory experience to a new level”.

Toni Cantos / Juvé & Camps oenologist

The wine

La Siberia is the result of a very careful winemaking process that preserves its special character; Mediterranean air blended with Nordic finesse, the perfect combination. It is only made in the years in which the grapes give off an almost magical energy and special harmony, preserving the lush, crisp fruit and maintaining the structure of a great wine. 80 months of ageing in our cellars do the rest, preserving the charm created in the vineyard and enhancing it, resulting in a magnetic and captivating sparkling wine, full of powerful energy.

Tasting notes

Its beautiful colour with pale pink iridescence captivates the eye and enthralls with its never-ending bubbles. Seductive and aromatic, it boasts aromas of fresh, crisp red berries, spiced notes of pepper and hints of butter and brioche, testament to its long ageing. It is structured and creamy with a fruity freshness that fills the mouth, revealing notes of cherry, dried apricot, walnut, gourmet touches and mineral undertones, leading into a long and very elegant finish.

The harmony

Pair with Tierra de Campos young pigeon with figs and walnuts, Caesar's mushroom carpaccio with pepper, tiramisu with Blue Mountain, Bloody Mary ice cream.
